

The Old Depot Gallery Guidelines & Criteria for Consignment

The Old Depot Gallery's mission is to ensure that local artists throughout Western North Carolina have a place to display and sell their work in the community. In addition, a goal of generating revenue to assist the Old Depot Association with its support of art, music, dance, and drama classes in the public schools of the Swannanoa Valley, as well as, protect and maintain Black Mountain's historic train depot. New Artists are always welcome to apply.

Jury Process:

- The Old Depot Gallery is looking for unique handmade items to sell on consignment, including; photography, paintings,
- mixed media, jewelry, pottery, woodworking, clothing, accessories, home decor and other works
- of art.
- A representative sample of your art work will be juried by the Gallery Committee of the Old Depot Association.
- Attach with this application a summary of your art work and your creative and construction process.
- Work in different mediums by the same artist must be juried separately.
- Our Jury may accept all or only selected items you make, based on the local market.
- Prices should be set by the artist. However, The Committee may recommend changes based on current sales and market value of similar items.
- Items are to be shown for sale exclusively at The Old Depot Gallery within Black Mountain City limits.
- The jury meets at least once each month. Rejected work will be accompanied by reasons and possible suggestions for improvement.

Technical Proficiency:

- Each medium requires certain skills. In general, finished work should appear polished and professional. All work must be complete and ready for display upon acceptance. The following points will apply.
- Functional pieces must meet safety standards for their intended use. The works "Decorative Use Only" must be clearly visible on items that appear utilitarian but are meant only for display.
- Children's toys should be non-toxic and free from parts that could be accidentally ingested. Fabric used in children's clothing must meet national fire and safety standards.
- Lead free and food safe glazes must be used on pottery. Oven proof and dishwasher safe items should be marked.
- All food items must meet the standards set by the Buncombe County Board of Health and Safety. Date and ingredients should be listed. A commercial kitchen license is required.
- Clothing should be sized and have care instructions.
- Limited edition prints should be signed and numbered in pencil. Copies of original art work should be labeled as such. All work must have a protective plastic sleeve.

Consignment Agreement:

Please Read consignment agreement carefully before signing.

The Gallery values each artist's work and pledges to handle all items with great care. However, the organization regrets it cannot be liable for accidental damage or loss. The Gallery is staffed by volunteers and they may not be able to answer your questions. In event of further questions, The Gallery Manager may be contacted at gallery@olddepot.org. Thank You for your interest!
